

Spain Honors Rev. Francis X. Talbot

Rector Receives Order Of Isabel; May Publication Planned For Book

Future Chapel of Our Lady of Evergreen

Chapel Site Transferred Farther North On Campus

The President's Office announced this week that the proposed site for Our Lady's Chapel of Evergreen has been moved from the original position on Cold Spring Lane to a point further north on the campus below the Science Building. At the same time, the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., expressed hope that construction would begin in the autumn.

According to the new plans, the Chapel will face the Faculty House and will have two entrances, each on a separate level. The upper level entrance will lead directly into the Chapel while the lower level entrance will lead into the basement where the auditorium will be situated.

To relieve the congestion on Cold Spring Lane, additional parking space will be made available. New roads will be constructed to facilitate the flow of traffic. The improvements will be made without destroying the flower gardens on the campus.

Lettermen Hold Dance Tonight

The Block "L" Club and the Class of July '49 will jointly sponsor a pre-Lenten dance this evening in the Evergreen Gym. The dance will be held from 9 till 1.

Music for the occasion will be provided by Day Childs and his 10 piece orchestra. The affair will be the final social event conducted before the advent of Lent next week.

Tickets for the dance are priced at $1.80 a couple. Members of the Class of July '49 may obtain tickets in blocks for the admission price of $0.50.

Students may purchase tickets for the dance at the Campus Shop or in the Athletic Office. The dance is being conducted under the chairmanship of James Burke. He pointed out that the dance was being held in accordance with the policy of the July '49 class to have one social event at Loyola each week before Lent.

Saint Among The Hurons, the latest book by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., will be published on May 25 of this year according to announcements made by Harper and Bros., New York publishers.

The book jacket, drawn by one of the nation's foremost artists, George Annand, has been approved by Father Talbot. The Rector is scheduled to receive the galley for the book today.

Life Of Brebeuf

The latest biographical production of Loyola's President deals with the life of Jean de Brebeuf, one of the eight Jesuit martyrs of North America. A life of Isaac Jogues has been written previously by Father Talbot and published under the title of Saint Among Savages.

Historical background material for the book was gathered personally by Father Talbot who has traveled extensively through territory formerly occupied by North American Indians. He completed research in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, where he participated in excavation research at locations known to have been occupied by certain Indian tribes.

In his work, Father Talbot has acquired a knowledge of many of the old Indian languages and dialects.

ASN Group Plans New Inductions

John Evelius, President of the Loyola ASN chapter, has announced that the local group recently received permission from the central office of the organization to induct seven new members into the Jesuit honor fraternity. The notification was received by Francis X. Gallagher, Acting Secretary of the group.

It was further stated that present plans include an immediate choice of candidates for approval by the Dean. After approval, the induction of the new members will take place as soon as possible.

Rev. Leo P. Monaghan, S. J.

Jose F. de Lequerica, Spanish Ambassador in the United States, has announced that the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, has been awarded the Order of Isabel with the rank of Commander.

The award, the highest and oldest which the Spanish Government can bestow, was given Father Talbot in recognition of his championship of Spain from 1936 to 1944 while Editor-in-Chief of America, and for his humanitarian efforts for the children and aged of Spain through the Spanish Relief Fund from 1937-1939.

Headed Fund Drive

Father Talbot was the chairman of the Spanish Relief Fund which raised over $125,000 for aid which was distributed through Cardinal Goma, Archbishop of Toledo.

The reading of the decree will take place at the Spanish Embassy in Washington on March 27. The official investiture will be held at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore on Sunday, March 31.

Ambassador Replies

De Lequerica, the Spanish Ambassador, wired Father Talbot after his acceptance. He said, "It was a great pleasure and honor to receive your letter accepting the Order of Isabel, the Catholic. Spain will be most happy to number you among the members of the Order commemorating the great Queen who was most instrumental in bringing Christian civilization to the Americas."

Fay Resigns Post; Staff Reorganized

Greyhound Staff Attends Press Conference At St. Joseph's

Under the direction of Rev. John J. Scanlan, S. J., Moderator of THE GREYHOUND, the editorial staff and 15 staff members of the school pub-

The journalists heard lectures on various aspects of newspaper procedure. The lectures were delivered by eminent newspapermen from the Baltimore-Washington area.

At last year's meeting THE GREYHOUND was awarded the Trockenbrot trophy which is given each year to the most outstanding Catholic college newspaper in the conference. The award is based upon excellence in all fields of scholastic newspaper endeavor.

July '50 Given Voice On Council

The Student Council recently established a governing committee for the Class of July '50 which has been unable to obtain a sufficient number of votes to install a constitutional president.

The committee will consist of those men already nominated for class office. The group will be permitted to elect a chairman of the committee who will represent the class on the Council. This representative will have a voice on the Council but he will not be entitled to a vote. The class has had no officers since the final attempt to obtain a large enough vote for election.

Rev. John J. Scanlan, S. J.

lication attended the Catholic Press Conference of Baltimore and Washington last Tuesday. The meeting was held at St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg.

The convention was composed of the staffs of all the Catholic high school and college publications in and around Baltimore and Washington.

Dramatic Society Will Present "Thy Kingdom Come" At Easter

The names of all students who will portray roles in the Passion Play have just been released by the Rev. Leo P. Monaghan, S. J., through the Dramatic Society President, Robert S. Custer.

The tradition of a Lenten morality play will be continued this year in the Mask and Rapier production of "Thy Kingdom Come." An original script by George Herman, the play will see the resumption of the Society's activities which last resulted in the music-satire Marelyn and the annual Loyola Night.

"Thy Kingdom Come" which will be presented April 13-15, is tentatively scheduled for the Baltimore Museum of Art auditorium. Twenty-five of those members participating in readings held Monday and Tuesday, February 14 and 15, were chosen. They were Burke, E. Clarke, Custer, Davis, Dietz, Downey, Eggleston, Feuka, France, F. X. Gallagher, Herman, Janish, Keller, Kimmitt, Kines, Maguire, Oldweurtel, Shehan, Sills, Smith, Stone, Strohecker, Ulhorn, Volenick and Wojtek.

The Lischka Story:

Lischka Works In Hayes Office, Defense Plant And U S O

This is the second article on the life of Mr. Charles N. Lischka, Instructor in English and German at Loyola. In the last issue of THE GREYHOUND, the story was traced from Hungary to America. With this issue, his life continues to the present day.

In 1927 he became the assistant director of the Department of Education of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and, and served as a member of the National Committee on Research in secondary education and as a member of the national committee of radio in education. He wrote "Private Schools and State Laws", published in 1928, a job that took him two years to complete, as it required knowledge of all state laws, state, private and public educational systems.

He also had two other book-length works published—"The Case Against A Federal Department of Education" and "Studies of Foreign School Systems". He has been a frequent contributor to America and has published articles in other nationwide periodicals.

Goes To Hollywood

In 1934 Mr. Lischka accepted a request from the Legion of Decency to go to Hollywood and become a member of the board in the Hayes Office. He served as a censor, checking movies to see that the Producer's Code was enforced. He also lectured at this time on Education at Loyola University of Los Angeles.

When the war broke out he became an assistant director of the Catholic USO groups in Los Angeles and Hollywood. He found time to work in a defense plant in Burbank, California. The plant manufactured airplane parts, and Mr. Lischka operated an automatic machine on the night shift. He then became head of the USO group in Elizabeth City, North Carolina.

Comes To Loyola

At the end of the war, Mr. Lischka did free-lance writing and translating until 1947 when he came to the Evergreen campus to teach English and German.

Mr. Lischka was married in 1918, has a son, Emery—a multi-decorated ex-pilot and ace of the Southern Pacific war, and the aforementioned grand-daughter, Catherine. His wife died in 1942.

Indeed, it might well be said that Mr. Charles N. Lischka has led a relatively full life.

Ethics Text Readied By Father Higgins

Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S.J., Professor of Ethics at Loyola College, has finished correcting final proofs on his Ethics text book. The book, entitled "Man As Man," will be about 600 pages. Publication date is scheduled by the Bruce Publishing Company of Milwaukee for sometime in April.

At the present time, the Ethics classes at Loyola are using an Ethics text which was also written by Father Higgins.

Ye Ed Laments Trials Of Those Who Read Magazines

by Frank Gallagher

Everytime I start to read a college magazine, I get out my compass and hire a pair of Saint Bernard's to keep me from losing the train of thought. Thus far this week, I've broken twenty-three compasses and and mentally ruined forty-two once-sane Saint Bernards. It's just too much for any dog.

A budding Ernest Hemingway who happens to write stories with plots doesn't have a chance any more. Now that the horn-rimmed intelligentsia are making literary laws, the order of the day has become the vaguer the better. As a horrible example, I quote from an unnamed college quarterly.

"Matthew looked up at her from a volume of Toynbee, munching on a green banana. She was immersed in the soul-searching search for her own soul. She was seized by doubts of all kinds, colors and prices. Matthew gazed fixedly at her blue retina and catching her optic nerve unnerved, he peered keenly down into the blackest recesses of her tortured mind now contemplating the aesthetic beauty of a ham on rye."

"They both conjectured that they were not subject to the law of gravitation. Yes. Yes. They could rise above all this, conquer this hissing thing that threatened to disrupt the smooth flow of their ceaseless battle against shackled thought. Were there ever any as noble as we, they asked themselves. They did not reply.

"The maroon clock on the wall grinned at them, beckoned them with outstretched hands. They realized that they were not mere iron filings, subject to the limitations of this world's magnet. Their love was a cosmic reality; it embraced all ages. It was a love for each other's spirits." (Note: They were both in the liquor business).

"They had loved long ago in some ancient land. They had pledged themselves to return as the Greeks stormed the castle wall. And now the curtain of time had been rent, and a new lease on life was theirs.

"Their souls left their bodies, poured themselves a spiritual drink, and after clinking glasses together, they gulped as they had never gulped before. Gulp, gulp, gulp."

Campus Shop Revisited Or "Life in The Marts"

by Donald M. Swartz

According to a recent pronouncement on the part of one of the lesser functionaries in the Campus Shop, the policy to be followed in the future is that the Shop will carry anything that doesn't move around on the shelves. "If it just gets on the shelf and lies there, it's for sale."

Actually, this policy, and its extension to books, is nothing new. It was borrowed from the typical American Drug Store, an institution which goes through life living a lie. Sodas, yes; small automobiles of foreign design, yes; drugs, no. Well, not exactly no. It's just that to find the drug department a prospective drug buyer must first establish contact with a small boy whose function it is to lead bands of customers in the right direction, usually toward the street.

In all fairness it must be stated that, as far as we know, the Campus Shop has not as yet run any ads calling for small boys, preferably with a touch of Indian blood, to work part time as scouts. However . . .

Among the still life objects which may be purchased in the Campus Shop, the disinterested observer will note a group of horses and kangaroos of a rather remarkable color, a Kiwi Bird standing in simple eloquence at one end of the counter, and assorted bits of glassware of functional design.

As we continue to move counterclockwise around the Shop we find shirts, socks, Father Arthur, cigarettes, a television set, and Father Arthur, who moves around a good deal.

In passing, the management feels that it would be wise to state that the cash register, while stationary, is not for sale, and that used playing cards must be obtained from Father Arthur personally, accompanied by a note from your mother.

NFCCS Lists Congress April 3 On Church, State &amp; Education

A committee of students of St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, is readying an agenda for the annual Baltimore-Washington Congress of the NFCCS. Set for Sunday, April 3, the conclave will be built around the topic "The Church, the State and Education."

All students of member schools are invited to attend and hear the topic discussed by a prominent lecturer in the field of education and government, and to participate in panel discussions arranged by the commissions of the regional NFCCS on their aspects of the question.

Holds Congress In Chicago

The national NFCCS will hold its Congress in Chicago, from May 1 to 3. The same topic will be treated, and delegates will, as in the past, speak for the Catholic College students of America on current issues by recommending action to the Congress of the United States and other influential bodies.

M. S. A. Contribution

In Baltimore, Mt. St. Agnes College has reported a contribution to the Student Relief campaign of 200 pounds of clothing and $180. St. Joseph's has collected 493 pounds of wearing apparel. Loyola's Relief committee, headed by Larry Atkinson, has found no response to its appeal for clothing donations, probably caused, as they believe, by the non-resident nature of the school.

brary, again this year has sponsored the contest. Miss Finnan, Dr. Walsh and Joseph Jones had a difficult time selecting the winner from among the large group of very fine contributions.

The winning poster together with the others and a fine selection of Catholic books are now on display in the library.

The basic idea of National Catholic Book Week was expressed by His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, who is the Honorary Chairman of the week, when he said, "If we are going to develop Catholic writers, we must educate our people to read their books."

Chem Club Hears F. B. I. Chemist

Last Friday night at Johns Hopkins University, the Chemistry Club of Loyola, attended a lecture, given by Dr. C. H. White, head of the chemistry laboratories for the F. B. I.

Dr. White received his Doctorate from the University of Colorado and came to the F. B. I. in 1940. His work comprises the chemical examination of physical evidence found in crime detection. More specifically, it is the examination of blood stains and other body fluids.

Dr. White, a toxicologist, gave the lecture for the benefit of the Baltimore Chapter of the Association for the Advancement of Science.

Loyola Debaters Will Be Hosts To Georgetown Club

Loyola's Robert Bellarmine Debating Society, under President John Evelius, will be host to the Georgetown University Foreign Service Debating Society in a double debate in the Library this afternoon. The topic of the debate will be the national collegiate topic "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Adopt a Policy of Equalization in Tax-Supported Schools by Means of Annual Grants."

Upholding the affirmative for Loyola will be Evelius and Lawrence Mooney, and defending the negative, Eugene Welsh and Vernon Lemmon.

At the same time another Bellarmine group will meet Bridgewater College in Bridgewater, Va., and debate the same topic. John Downey and Joseph Reiter will take the affirmative for Loyola, and John Mahle and Edward North will take the negative.

Engaged In Five Debates

During the last two weeks the Loyolans engaged in five debates and one guest appearance. Of these, five were decision debates, of which the Bellarmines won three. One was of a non-decision nature.

On February 11, Loyola met Randolph Macon College in a two-debate meet. Defending the negative for Loyola were Bertram Morales and John Kelley; upholding the affirmative were Eugene Welsh and Edward Clarke.

Three days later the Bellarmine Society debated Bridgewater College, another Virginia institution. Representing Loyola were John Mahle and Edward Clarke for the negative, and Eugene Welsh and Edward North for the affirmative.

Met Sho' Men

February 16 saw Robert MacDonald and Charles Clifton defending the negative for Loyola against Washington College. On February 18, against Rutgers University, Robert MacDonald and Francis Gallagher took the negative for Loyola, while John Downey and Joseph Reiter defended the affirmative.

The following day, the Bellarmine Debating Society met the Georgetown University Philodemic Debating Society. John Mahle and Edward Shea upheld the negative for Loyola.

History Club Holds Round Table Talks

The John Gilmary Shea History Academy held its regular biweekly meeting at the residence of Dr. Harry W. Kirwin on Thursday, February 24. Following its program of discussing early presidents of the United States, the club held a round-table session on Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren.

At the Academy's previous meeting, conducted at John Hall's house on February 10, James Madison, James Monroe and John Quincy Adams were considered.

Since the Christmas holidays the History Academy has also discussed George Washington and John Adams and "Causes of the Civil War."

The club meets every other Thursday evening at the homes of its members.

Mindszenty . . .

Mindszenty was not only a priest and prince but a scholar, orator and wonderful organizer. In the two years of the Cardinal's primacy, over 30 new parishes were added to his archdiocese.

Cardinal Mindszenty was a very stern disciplinarian in the management of his diocese, yet to the people he was a beloved and honored prelate.

III. The chief offense of the Communist-controlled court was not that they wished to sentence the Cardinal but that they wished to picture him as a coward who bowed to the wishes of the Communists. They sought to morally kill a man whose spirit and high sense of value had stimulated Hungary for some years.

IV. A common question of Americans is this, "Why didn't the Hungarian people resist the Cardinal's arrest?" We are prone to overlook the fact that Hungary has a population of 9,000,000 while Russian now has 200,000,000. The Russian border is only six hours away from Budapest by tank and less than one-half hour away by airplane. The Red Army is actually in Hungary. It is evident that it would be completely futile for the small, unorganized Hungarian nation to resist.

V. Americans also often wonder about the claimed confession of the Cardinal. A Communist police officer, present at the interrogation of the Cardinal, escaped from the Communists. He tells of the Cardinal's subtle torture and finally of the Cardinal's seeing his secretary mutilated beyond recognition. At this, to prevent further bloodshed, the Cardinal submitted to the Communist wishes. The Cardinal had been without water for at least four days and was racked with internal torture by chemicals.

In summation, it can only be said that the Hungarian nation today is a nation of undisplayed, internal sorrow.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Alumni Dues

The bills for annual membership fees, delayed somewhat in mailing, have been received and returns are reaching the desk of the Financial Secretary. We take this opportunity of thanking those who have made early payment. Dues payment makes possible the continued Alumni program. The administration has pledged itself to an expanded program of activities and has lived up to its promise. We all want to see the new Alumni features, the Newsletter, the Alumni Nites and other planned activities continue. You can help by sending your check for dues TODAY.

Alumni Calendar Reminder

Just to remind you—Alumni Nite is still Thursday night at Evergreen. If you have been unable to attend to date, be sure to come out next Thursday. And be sure to check your calendar for these all-important dates: March 6, Alumni Oyster Roast at Evergreen; April 21, Alumni Banquet at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Besides checking your calendar, how about checking with your class-mates and making both of these dates the occasions of class reunions that you have been hoping to have for years.

O. G. P. U. Effects Solution Of Card Case In Only Three Days

Four innocent youths sit in the smoke-filled Oak Room, happily engaged in an equally innocent game of pinochle, unaware of the impending danger. Suddenly, as if from nowhere, a jettish figure descends upon them. It wordlessly seizes their earnings and the tools of their trade, and disappears as silently as it came.

Our youths are frozen in horrified muteness for a few seconds. Then they break into frenzied moaning and groaning and gnashing of teeth, and the air is rent with bitter invectives against the spectre.

Spy Overhears

Finally, one of the boys, recovering a bit from shock and regain some of his previous aplomb, turns to his fellows and, in a low, cultured voice that bespeaks long training in Scholastic philosophy, inquires of them, "What in heck does he do with all them cards he pinches?"

In the shadows, quite unnoticed by the unhappy quartet, lurks a GREYHOUND spy. Overhearing this timely question and sensing possible insurrection, he rushes to headquarters and reports to J. Edgar Gallagherov, ruthless commissar of the O. G. P. U. (Organized GREYHOUND Persecution Union). Thereupon Gallagherov despatches several handpicked agents to go among the student body and to "leave no stone unturned" in discerning what information, if any, the Loyolans have discovered concerning the incarcerated cards.

Case Solved

For three days there is a continuous hum of activity at GREYHOUND

headquarters. The teletype clatters unceasingly, bringing in bits of information from overworked agents in the field. Lights burn throughout the night as weary, unshaved men work feverishly to piece the puzzle together.

At long last, Gallagherov orders a message sent to all operatives announcing a solution:

Card case concluded. Have ascertained definite proof that he changes playing cards, by some alchemic process, into the parking tickets he sticks on cars.

Whiteford Contest Deadline Announced

The annual Whiteford History Essay Contest topic for this year will be "The Maryland Toleration Act of 1649," it was announced by Dr. Harry W. Kirwin, Assistant Professor of History. This topic was chosen because 1949 is the tricentennial anniversary of the bill's enactment.

The essays, which must be at least 3000 words long, are due on April 1. They will then be judged by the History Department, and the winner will be announced shortly thereafter.

Inaugurated by Miss Celinda Whiteford, the contest is sponsored every year, and a gold medal is awarded to the winner.

David L. McManus won the medal in 1948.

The Critilog

by George Herman

God In The Theatre

There is something repulsive in the way modern drama and modern dramatists tend to the abandonment of God in their field and the enthronement of materialism.

From New York comes the word of the tremendous success of Cole Porter's latest production Kiss Me Kate. It has nothing to match the poetry of Hammerstein's "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning" and "Soliloquy". A critic hit the secret of its success when he said, "Cole Porter has turned out his raciest lyrics."

Not only does this commercialization of suggestive situations indicate a bad trend in New York's taste, but likewise a bad trend on the part of the critics who raved about the "modern, fresh lyrics". What is so trite and hackneyed as the "I Hate Men" song?

The acceptance of the divorce in Kiss Me, Kate is universally acknowledged from the opening curtain. The fact that the two strayed lovers finally re-unite does not alter the existing fact that the divorce is pictured as quite acceptable. And this is the Hollywood attitude, too. How many pictures, otherwise proper, are banned or classified as "B" by the Legion of Decency because they accent the acceptability of divorce?

Shows like Annie Get Your Gun and Oklahoma couldn't even get by without a suggestion of sex. Only pictures like Joan of Arc or Good Sam indicate that someone in the City of Celluloid still remembers something called the moral law.

What can we do? Stay away from those productions! Present every producer, director and writer in Hollywood with a copy of the forthcoming Peace of Soul!

Holy Words

There is little to be said about the advisability of reading Catholic books which has not already been stated in five or six clever ways. Anti-Catholic propaganda can be best combatted by the wider dissemination of Catholic literature.

Most Catholics, it is sad to say, have a distorted idea of what constitutes Catholic literature. The very mention of "Catholic Book" brings to their minds lives of the saints, prayer books and holy pictures in three colors. It never occurs to them that a book depicting everyday life and characters who do their best to meet the struggles of existence in a wholesome manner may be just as much a Catholic book as a Book Of Daily Devotions.

The point to be made here is that you need not have 200 pages of stuffy "thous" and "thines" to have a truly Catholic book. There is no canonical law which makes it compulsory that every other paragraph of a Catholic book contain an affirmation of the infallibility of the Pope. Theological dogma need not run rampant over the printed pages.

A book which is based upon the fundamental laws of life, which does not seek to glorify evil, which does not try to convey false and anti-Catholic philosophy may do more to help a troubled reader than all the sermons ever preached.

Certainly the least we can do is to read wholesome literature ourselves. Those who are interested in others can do a great deal by seeing to it that these books are also read by those who are lukewarm in their faith or actually lost to Catholicism.

The above seal has recently been adopted by the Jesuit National College Association which THE GREYHOUND joined last year.

- Novena of Grace

Novena Days

The famed Novena of Grace is once again just around the corner. Students attending Jesuit educational institutions have a special interest in this nine day devotion because St. Francis Xavier was himself a Jesuit.

Loyola College students should have an even greater interest and a deep devotion because the history of the novena is tied up with the College and a famous priest who inaugurated the Novena of Grace in Baltimore, Rev. Francis X. Brady, S. J.

There are many practical reasons why we should make the Novena. Certainly, there are none so laden with every spiritual treasure that they can afford to let a novena go by without a notice. Schoolwork, private life and matters of family concern furnish all of us with problems which prayer must solve.

Of course, there will be those inanimate few who will not choose to join with the rest of the student body to make the novena. That is their business and a matter to be settled with Someone else. But for the majority of Loyola College students, there is being offered a genuine opportunity to better themselves in some manner.

The services will be held daily at the college. There is no excuse why all should not find time to attend. Will you be one of those who manages to find the time?

Jazz Loses Leader In Kenton Break Up

by Larry Davis

The world of progressive jazz has lost one of its chief creators by the break-up of the Stan Kenton orchestra. The possibility of losing his health as a result of the terrific pace his band was setting in one-night concerts and other appearances in order to establish his new music was the chief reason cited by Stan for the break-up. The reader may recall that the summer of 1947 found Stan undergoing medical treatment for a nervous breakdown.

The surprising element in Kenton's music was its enthusiastic public reception. From '45 to '47 he was voted top band in Down Beat and Metronome polls. In '48 he was second only to the great Duke Ellington. Why such acclaim for a radical music when other progressive bands were forced to change style or suffer public disapproval as in the cases of Ray McKinley and Boyd Raeburn?

Part of the answer can be found in Carlos Castel, business manager, who has helped establish such names as the King Cole Trio and Peggy Lee. Castel is now managing the Woody Herman band. The complete answer however was the stubborn drive and willingness to work that captured success for Stan.

Only two other bands with a radical message have ever achieved the success of the Kenton aggregation: Duke Ellington, who has once again claimed musical championship, and Woody Herman, who has more commercialized bop than any other band.

Kenton's plans for the future are vague although he has hinted at returning to school for a degree in medicine and psychiatry. His reasons for reticence concerning such heavy schooling as psychiatry should be obvious to any college man who has suffered a break in his formal education. Kenton claims that the break is a permanent one, and if he remains as stubborn in this decision as he was in promoting his brand of music, then the great Kenton is sure to be a thing of the past.

Mueller And Tankmen Winning The Hard Way

by Mickey Parr, Sports Editor

If Coach Franny Mueller can build up a successful defense (on March 12) of the Mason-Dixon swimming crown which his Loyola tankmen now hold, both he and the squad will be deserving of the prize even if you discount all the practice time and effort that is consumed in the pool every afternoon. 'Extra-curricular' obstacles have made this an unusual season for the aquatic Greyhounds.

First, Jake Fisher, Clint Bamberger, and Bert Dunn, all important members of last year's champ team, have found themselves so loaded down with academic work that it is very difficult for them to meet practice schedules. In fact, they didn't begin to hit the Evergreen bathing beach regularly until weeks after organized splashing got under way.

Then, Mueller's swimmers were driving to Washington on January 14, for a meet with American U., when one of the cars was involved in a smash-up. Even though they couldn't navigate too well on land, the natators followed with a 38-37 water victory over the D. C. lads. Just eight days after that, with the highly successful La Salle team due in town to offer the finest opposition of the season, a schedule mixup left Mueller with an overflow of fans and an empty pool.

Perhaps this latter incident will be squared away tomorrow, when another attempt will be made to get the Explorers in the Greyhounds' back yard in agreement with the schedule.

Reitz Gets Results

There's one thing that a sports coach can always depend on during his career, and that's the variety of opinions regarding his tutoring ability. From this corner your correspondent would like to cast a boost in the direction of Emil G. (Lefty) Reitz, who is in his eleventh season of compiling winning records at the helm of Loyola basketball squads.

The particular aspect which comes to mind is the result he effects by words alone, words that lift the team by its bootstraps and produce gratifying results.

It was said of the great John McGraw that the persistent success of his New York Giants' baseball teams could be traced to the fiery discourses and psychological pleadings with which he drove his men.

At opportune moments through the season, and especially between halves of a tough ball game, Reitz utilizes this verbal sway to the fullest. The tests against Detroit, Albright, and Mt. St. Mary's (first game) are excellent examples of what the south-paw mentor can do. In each of these frays the Greyhounds went to their halftime rest period hanging on the short end of the score, but came back in the second session to snatch victory away from their opponents and handily tack it onto the Loyola win column.

It's one thing to have the material for a good team, and another thing to keep that team at its best from November to March. Lefty Reitz has the writer's vote for doing a praiseworthy job with a very good squad.

Loyola Wrestlers Clamp 24-6 Defeat On Western Maryland; Win 6 Of 8 Matches

by Dennis Scully

Winning six of the eight matches at Westminster, the Loyola matmen, under the guidance of Coach Phil Goodman, pinned a 24-6 defeat on Western Maryland, last Friday afternoon.

Bob Weiss started the ball rolling with an 8-4 decision in the 121-pound bout. Moving fast Bob picked up two points for a takedown with a quick leg dive. Although his opponent, John Spencer, had the age advantage, Bob showed superior skill and gave Loyola a 3-0 lead.

Mercaldo Wins

In the 128-pound class John Mercaldo added three more counters to the score by outpointing Bob Wilsey. Mercaldo definitely had the edge over Wilsey and showed it by a quick opening take down, a reverse and time on top.

Ted Haupt, wrestling at 136, gave the crowd a thrill by trying everything in the book. His attempted pulldown failed but, breaking away, he successfully used a standing switch to lower his adversary, and finally scored an 8-2 decision. The Terrors conceded victory in the 145-pound class by forfeiting.

Bower Pins Dvorine

Mus Bower, Loyola, pinned Bill Dvorine in 57 seconds in the second period of the 155-pound match, using an arm lock and a half nelson. Mus again pinned him in only 20 seconds in the third period.

Loyola gained five more points in the 165-pound test, when Franny Meagher thrashed Gene Mechley with a takedown, a near fall, and

Swimmers Win, 50-25

Franny Mueller's powerful swimming squad chalked up its fifth consecutive victory on February 12, in Washington. This time it was Catholic University's Cardinals that bowed to the fast-stroking Loyolans by the overwhelming count of 50-25.

The squad is rounding into one of the stronger teams in the south and enhanced its prestige as current champions by establishing three new pool marks at C. U.

Jake Fisher, the Greyhounds' "flying fish", whipped through the 40-yard freestyle in the record smashing time of 19.2 seconds. Speedster Johnnie Allen, the sensational freshman, set a new standard when he was clocked in 58 seconds flat for the 100-yard freestyle.

Late in the afternoon, the 400-yard relay team of Fisher, Bert Dunn, Allen, and John Blondell splashed to an easy win in the record-shattering time of 4:01.6.

Clint Bamberger continued to dominate the Conference breast-strokers with his triumph in the 200-yard event, marking his eighth straight win. Earl Schmidt and Johnny Mohler placed in that order in the diving division, thus keeping their slate clean in conference competition.

Loyola Quintet Fights To 66 to 64 Win At Brooklyn

Loyola's basketball team hurdled its biggest obstacle since the Seton Hall victory, with a 66 to 64 see-saw triumph over St. Francis of Brooklyn on February 11. The Terriers tried desperately to avenge last year's Greyhound win, but even playing at home couldn't turn the tide for them.

The statistics column had a familiar ring to it as Bob Anderson and Jim Lacy's combined total of 41 points led the way in Loyola scoring, while accuracy from the foul line tilted the victory balance in the direction of the visitors.

Score Even At Half

The half-time score was 30-all, and the driving play of both teams kept mastery of the situation undecided until the final whistle of the game.

Brooklyn's cagers lost their best opportunity to salt away the affair when they muffed six of seven free throws in the final five minutes of play.

Three Players Foul Out

Even the referees had their hands full in the latter stages of the test as Paul Labanowski and Jim Luisi, of St. Francis, and Anderson, of Loyola, were detoured to the bench via the personal foul route.

While the Greyhounds enjoyed the brief luxury of a four point lead during the second half, the best the Terriers could muster during this session was a two point advantage.

St. Mary's Bows, 67-53

by Gerry McCormick

Mt. St. Mary's Mountaineers fell victim to Loyola's surging Greyhounds last Saturday night by a 67-53 score on the Evergreen floor.

After being upset by American U. in their previous game, the Greyhounds bounced back to turn in a convincing triumph over the ever-dangerous Mounts.

Following a fairly close first half, the Green and Grey turned on the steam and ran up a 41 to 21 edge in the opening minutes of the second period, from which point they coasted to victory.

Clark Hits 26

Mike Zedalis was the big gun for Loyola as the fiery forward racked up 19 points. Three other Greyhounds hit double figures in the scoring column, Andy O'Donnell, Jim Lacy and Bob Anderson, but all were eclipsed by the 26 points of Mt. St. Mary's brilliant center, Pete Clark.

Both Teams Miss Shots

During the first half both teams were having tough luck on many of their shots, thus causing a low-scoring period. Zedalis and Anderson were mainly responsible for Loyola's 29-20 advantage at half-time.

The second half started with the Greyhounds running up 12 consecutive points to establish the outcome of the game. Andy O'Donnell and Mike Zedalis teamed up to make one of the best plays of the game at this time as Zedalis tapped O'Donnell's pass into the net.

Number Six To Tankmen

Loyola's swimmers upset a high-geared Swarthmore aggregation, 38-37, on February 19, in a spirited meet at the Pennsylvanians' pool.

This victory, the sixth straight for the Greyhounds, was a measure of sheer strategy and team spirit. Coach Franny Mueller and Captain Clint Bamberger spent long hours the week preceding the meet studying the opponent's weaknesses and Loyola's assets, in a search for the combination which might possibly garner the needed 38 points.

Figuring Is Precise

The final score is an indication of the preciseness in their figuring. Actually, Loyola took first place in only four out of nine events.

Cagers Beat Catholic U. Athletes Face Three Tests

With Mike Zedalis and Andy O'Donnell finding the range for 16 points apiece, Loyola beat Catholic U., 56-47, in a Mason-Dixon Conference game at Washington, D. C., February 9. The Greyhounds had considerable trouble solving the Cardinals' defensive tactics, but nonetheless built up and maintained a steady margin, to notch their eighth straight league win.

The Greyhounds face a full schedule tomorrow, as the basketball team visits Washington College, the wrestlers go to Gallaudet, and La Salle College's powerful swimming squad comes here as guests of the high-flying natators.

Official word has it that La Salle will definitely be on hand tomorrow, and with Olympic champion Joe Verdeur on its side, the Green and Grey will have their hands full.

B-Squad Five Approaches Season Court Finale

Loyola's B-Squad, with an undefeated record in 10 games, has mathematically clinched the Conference Junior crown for 1948-49.

The Loyola College B-Squad, coached by Bish Baker, is presently riding the crest of a victory wave which has carried it to an undefeated slate in the Mason-Dixon Junior Conference. The jay-vee team is looking anxiously toward its final Mason-Dixon encounter, which will be staged at Catholic U. on March 3.

The Bakermen, posting an overall record of 10 wins and 2 losses thus far, have proven themselves to be the cream of the league. The two defeats which they have suffered have been at the hands of a strong 2nd Army team from Fort Meade.

Starting this year with such veterans as Whitey Welsh, Rip Roberts, Arnie Reese, Tom Lind, Jack Doyle and Jack Whalen, the junior dribblers got off to a fast start. As the season progressed the squad received extra strength with the ascent of Reds Schneider, Ben Cook and Lee Bardelman from the Fresh team.

Rip Roberts, current high-scoring man of the team, with an 80 point output, is closely followed by Tom Lind, with 78 tallies. Mel Baldwin, former Patterson Park High School luminary, has played in four contests for the Greyhounds, and owns an 18 point per-game average.

Miller Is Outstanding

With the day's outstanding display of grit and drive, Eddie Miller, a consistent plugger, kept Loyola in the running by capturing the vital second place in the 200-yard breaststroke behind undefeated Clint Bamberger. Miller was completely exhausted at the end of the race.

Also turning second position into a place of honor, Jack Blondell put Loyola out in front to stay by handing in the fastest 440-yard freestyle time of his career. He negotiated the course in 5:45.

Jake Fisher remained undefeated in the 50-yard freestyle by cutting one-tenth of a second off his Conference record of 25.2 seconds.

Summaries:

300-Yard Freestyle—Won by Loyola (McCormick, Klarner, Allen); second, Swarthmore (Graves, Strouse, Hamilton). Time—3:21.1.

220-Yard Freestyle—Won by Dippy, Swarthmore; second, Blondell, Loyola; third, Peabody, Swarthmore. Time—2:30.2. (new college record; old record of 2:30.7 made by Dippy in 1949).

American U. Tops Loyola

American University, Loyola's arch-rival in basketball, rudely deposed the Greyhounds from their perch atop the Mason-Dixon Conference on Tuesday, February 15, with a 63 to 47 win over the highly favored defending champions at Washington.

The Green and Grey went into the game with a record of eight straight league victories, and seemed on their way to an undefeated season in loop play. However, it was not to be, as Coach Lefty Reitz's cagers absorbed their first loss.

Garshag Stars For Eagles

Ronnie Garshag, American University's hot and cold guard, played a standout game for the Eagles, and contributed 26 points towards Loyola's downfall. The 6'6" star netted 10 goals from the floor, and made good on six out of 10 free throws. He was backed up by Ed Moffat, with 11 markers, and by Bob Lamon, with nine.

The Greyhound attack, though rendered practically impotent by the Eagles defense, managed to shake loose its ball-hawk guard, Andy O'Donnell, for 13 points.

Hosts Start Fast

The Eagles started quickly, and by the end of the first quarter led, 15 to 7. At halftime they had extended their advantage to a 20-point, 35 to 15 lead. At the start of the fourth quarter the Greyhounds were faced with an almost insurmountable 50 to 30 deficit.

Loyola tried to solve American University's zone defense by shooting from the outside, but the visitors' marksmanship was faulty, and as a consequence they fell steadily behind.

Goodman Aims For Mat Title

by Bob Bourbon

Loyola's wrestling mentor, Phil Goodman, is probably one of the least publicized persons about the campus, yet the diminutive fellow does a man-sized job each winter.

The Greyhound coach, barely reaching five feet tall, is now in his fourth year as director of the Green and Grey mat fortunes, a period which has seen Loyola rise from a position of obscurity to that of a challenging power in Mason-Dixon grappling ranks.

Phil Goodman

Phil quite naturally comes by his success, for he has almost a decade of international and local YMHA and YMCA experience from which to draw.

He took up the sport while a senior at City College in 1934, and as a 118-pound contender he copied the Baltimore Wrestling Championship for four straight years.

Traveled Abroad

Also in 1934, he was selected as one of an All-Star Jewish athletic team which traveled overseas. Phil went to the finals of a world-wide tournament held in Palestine in the same year, only to be beaten out by a Czechoslovakian, whose name he doesn't recall offhand.

In 1936 he was 123-pound Eastern Regional Olympic Champion, but failed to make the team which was to represent the United States.

Plans For Future

As for the next year, Phil says, "Things don't look too encouraging, with several of this season's standouts due to graduate this summer."

Right now, however, he's pointing his sights toward the Mason-Dixon tournament, to be held on March 11 and 12, in which he feels Loyola's matmen have an excellent chance of emerging victoriously.

The award was made to Jim because of his outstanding achievements, both on the court, and in the classroom, during his four year tenure at Loyola.

Alumni Bowling

Class of '40 Retains Lead

The Class of '40 is maintaining its lead in the Alumni Association Bowling League, despite pressure from the Class of '42. The race has become very close as the leaders have a record of 17 wins and 4 losses, compared to the 16 and 5 log of the Class of '42.

Thaler of the Class of '42 turned in the highest single game score by posting a 133. Disney retained his spot as top bowler by posting a 109.17 average.

High Set To McCollum

McCollum posted the highest weekly set score with a 331 output. However this did not touch the 381 mark set by Disney earlier in the season.

It is not surprising that the Class of '40 is leading the league since three of the top six bowlers in the loop are on this team, J. Donohue, P. Donohue and Wilkinson. In fact, J. Donohue's 104.48 mark is second only to Disney's, who is the current pacesetter.

Keystoners Loom As Probable 'Mural Basketball Champions

Basketball

Intramural basketball play is at present at its peak, with the play-offs being nearly over. With Bill Fannon and John O'Connor as their chief threats, the Keystoners are the only quint which hasn't tasted defeat. They have beaten the highly touted Celtics, and in a preliminary to the Varsity-Catholic U. game the "second basers" eliminated the Demosthenes Dribblers. Intramural play reached a new high with this 30-21 Keystone triumph. The top quint should be determined by the next edition, and while the Keystone five lays claim to the favorite role, the Celtics and the Diz Kids loom as threats.

Bowling

Two weeks of action are completed in the Bowling tournament, and the third round of this annual event finished today. The pinsters have started off at a fast clip, with Tom Rommel setting the pace. He has combined sets of 372 and 384, to take the lead with a 756 total.

Bud Norjen is in the runner-up spot, having toppled 739 maples in his six games. Lou Vaeth dropped from 390 to 335, but still held on to third place with 725 for his 60 boxes. Rommel's present 126 average suggests some fancy rolling will be needed to cop this yearly event, now in its sophomore year. Because of the surplus of participants this season, the event will last six weeks, instead of the usual five, in order to eliminate all but the ten finalists. These ten will compete on Saturday, March 19, to determine the head pinster.

Foul Shooting

In 45 shots from the foul line, Jack Horrigan and Jim Wintz both swished 34 times through the netting in the foul shooting tourney. Bob Roesner made 33, and Ed Lynch connected for 32, as high accuracy was shown.

Horrigan and Wintz, in their playoff tosses, tied twice more in a pair of try sets, and it took a total of 45 more attempts before a winner was announced. It was Jack Horrigan who hit the limelight, with 13 out of 15 charity tosses in the deciding set, to become the foul-shooting champ.

Ping Pong

The deadline for the first round in the Ping-Pong tourney is today. All games not played off will be forfeited.

In the only results turned in so far, Bill Carroll defeated Joe Woytowitz, and Ed Hagerty beat Brian Brandon. Contestants and play dates are arranged on the intramural schedule, posted on the gym bulletin board.

Hagerty, the "Y.A." Tittle of intramural football fame this past autumn, has shown ability with the paddles thus far, and in his match with Brandon demonstrated that his proficiency with the paddles bears a heap of watching.

Wrestlers Lose, 23-11

The grapplers from West Chester State Teachers College toppled the Greyhounds 23-11 in a wrestling match on the West Chester mat, February 12.

The Pennsylvania team took five of the eight matches, the 121, 128, 136, 145 and 155-pound classes. The Greyhounds' three victories were in the 165-pound class, where Francis Bower decisioned Dave Paxon 8-4, the 175-pound class, where Franny Meagher decisioned Bill Smedley, and in the heavyweight class where Jeep Mueller decisioned Ben Schmittel.

Mueller remained undefeated in college ranks by this victory and placed himself in the select circle of Evergreen wrestling greats.

The Results:

121-pound: Linn Devault, West Chester, pinned Bob Weiss, 2:05, second period.
128-pound: Earl Hoffman, West Chester, pinned John Mercaldo, 1:20 second period and 1:12 third period.
136-pound: Gene Troiano, West Chester, decisioned Ted Haupt, 6-1.
145-pound: Bill Dallam, West Chester, pinned Duke Kerr, 1:16 second period and 0:59 third period.
155-pound: Jack Birmingham, West Chester, pinned Bob Graves 1:37 seconds of first period.
165-pound: Francis Bower, Loyola decisioned Dave Paxon 9-4.
175-pound: Francis Meagher, Loyola decisioned Bill Smedley 8-4.
Heavyweight: Jeep Mueller, Loyola, decisioned Ben Schmittel 1:04 third period.

Cagers View M-D Tourney

This week-end marks the end of league play as the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball teams prepare for the annual post-season tournament, to be held this year at Catholic University on March 1, 2, and 3.

The top eight teams in the league standings will meet in the single-game elimination tourney. Conference officials will hold a draw to decide the opponents for the first round, with all eight teams swinging into action on the opening night.

Finals On Thursday

The four winners will vie in the semi-finals on Wednesday, and on Thursday night the two finalists will take the floor for the right to claim the tournament championship.

At this writing, only five teams are assured a position at the starting post on March 1. They are Hampden-Sydney, Loyola, American University, Bridgewater, and Roanoke. The additional three will be decided by the end of this week's regularly scheduled games.

Loyola Favored

Although Hampden-Sydney has already annexed the Conference championship with 11 straight victories, Loyola will enter the tournament in the favorite's role.

The Greyhounds have been the regular season and tournament champions for the past two years. Loyola and Hampden-Sydney did not meet during the regular season.

Catholic U. Loses 64-50

In its final home appearance of the year, Loyola's cage team defeated Catholic University, 64 to 50, in a slow, methodical game.

Though the Greyhound scoring was fairly well distributed, the Loyola players kept the ball going in the direction of Jim Lacy, and enabled him to wind up his Evergreen cage career with the game's top of 21 points.

Throughout the first half the visitors kept a constant threat on the Greyhounds' lead, which was widened to 30 to 23 at halftime. In the second period, frequent substitutions by the Cardinals slowed down the hosts' fast break, but Lefty Reitz's quintet moved on to a 50 to 40 advantage, and kept the game well under control thereafter.

The crowd was given an unusual thrill when Lacy, who had been honored with an award at halftime, scored on tremendous shot from mid-court as the final buzzer sounded. The officials ruled the shot came too late.

Lacrosse Practice

Bish Baker, mentor of the Greyhound Lacrosse Team, has announced that formal workouts will begin on or about March 1, weather permitting. A large turnout of newcomers is expected, in addition to the crop of holdovers who are back from last season. Conditioning will be stressed, inasmuch as the Green and Grey meets its first opponent in the early part of April.

Hungarians Are Guiltless In Trial Of Mindszenty

In view of the increasing importance of the recent trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, THE GREYHOUND feels that it should point out a few interesting features of the history-making trial which are apt to be overlooked if we were to rely solely on newspaper accounts.

I. President Harry S. Truman said that the trial would forever be a blot on the history of the great nation of Hungary. But upon close analysis of the trial, we find that the Hungarian people had nothing whatsoever to do with its proceedings. The judges, police and trial officials are all criminal Soviet agents. Many of these men are citizens of the U. S. S. R. The Vice-Prime-Minister of Hungary, who actually dictates the affairs of state, is Rakosi. In reality this man is also a citizen of the Soviet. The Hungarian nation is grieved over the trial and sentence of the Cardinal. This is best pointed out in a story circulated in Hungary by the real citizens of the state.

Rakosi once gave to Szakasits, President of Hungary, an order which commanded him to produce 40,000 men for a political rally. The men were obtained. Once again Rakosi called the President, this time demanding 100,000 men. The men appeared at the rally. Months later, another order was given which required 500,000 men to be present. When the men gathered for the meeting, Rakosi asked the President how the men had always been obtained without difficulty. The President replied that he had first told them that he would resign at the meeting. At the second gathering, he had promised that Rakosi himself would resign. Then he hesitatingly admitted that the 500,000 men had come because they expected to hear Cardinal Mindszenty speak.

The trial of the Cardinal is not a blot on the county; it is the glory of Hungarian history.

II. The chief importance of the case is not the involvement of Cardinal Mindszenty. Passing over the personalities, we must remember that in normal times, when the monarchy ruled Hungary, the Prime of Hungary was second in rank to the king. Also, Cardinal

Fritz Speaks to ASN Alumni About Electronic "Eniac"

The Alpha Sigma Nu Alumni Club held its regular bi-monthly social meeting in the Library cafeteria on February 14.

About twenty members and their wives and friends heard the Club's President, Barkley Fritz, lecture on the Eniac in modern scientific research.

Explain Eniac

Mr. Fritz, who is a scientist at the Edgewood Arsenal, began his talk by explaining to his lay audience that the Eniac is an extremely large and complicated electronic machine which is used in the higher reaches of modern research to minimize the comparatively simple but tedious mathematical processes which often delay the solutions of important problems.

The lecturer pointed out how this machine, and others which are similar to it, can perform mathematical operations in a matter of seconds

July Class Sponsors Rally

In an effort to reassert the superiority of the Class of July, '49, one hundred and twenty members of the class accompanied by their dates attended the Loyola-Mt. St. Mary's basketball game at Evergreen last Saturday night.

Organized by Class President Eugene Welsh, the group sat beneath the Class Banner whose purchase was authorized by the class officers last year. The Class is also sponsoring the Mason-Dixon Dance tonight in cooperation with the Block "L" Club.
